Hello George,

I am sorry that I was not clear, but I am taking a graduate statistics class. Our assignment is to reach out to an author for their data source to look at as a model rather than using the actual data. Would you be willing to share the data with me for my class?

Thank you,
Ashley

Dear Ashley,

Thank you for providing that information. Unfortunately, this data set does not include variables related to your interests in medicalizing and criminalizing outcomes.. The data for this study was from a randomly selected normative sample that served as a basis for scoring the ADHD Rating Scale. Thus, most of the individuals in this sample were not diagnosed with ADHD and we did not collect data regarding their medical or criminal outcomes.

Best regards,

George DuPaul

Hello Dr. DuPaul,

Thank you for your prompt reply.

The article is titled ADHD Parent and Teacher Symptom Ratings: Differential Item Functioning across Gender, Age, Race, and Ethnicity.

Below is the citation for the article:

Dear Ashley,

Thank you for your interest in my work. Could you let me know the specific article to which you are referring so that I know what data base you are referring to?

Best regards,

George DuPaul

Hello Dr. DuPaul,

My name is Ashley Borjon, I am a Ph.D. student at the University of California, Merced. I am beginning my research on ADHD; specifically looking at which students are being medicalized and which are criminalized. I have viewed your article on ADHD parent and teacher symptom ratings. I would like to request access to your data source (data and code).

Thank you for your time,
Ashley
